OUR JOURNEY

2022

Our founder, with a rich background in conference production, encountered significant challenges in managing and integrating ticketing solutions for industry events. Recognizing a substantial gap in the market, he envisioned a comprehensive B2B event marketplace that would simplify event management and enhance discoverability for industry professionals. This need for an integrated platform to track and manage industry events was the catalyst for our journey.

2023

The vision took its first concrete step as we embarked on the development of our platform, initially branded as confexin.com. The development phase was an intensive process, involving rigorous market research, user feedback sessions, and collaboration with industry experts to build a robust and scalable platform capable of addressing the multifaceted needs of the B2B event ecosystem.

2024

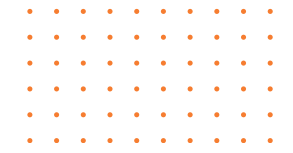

After a year of meticulous software development and continuous refinement, we proudly launched our platform in 2024, rebranding it to Conferplace.
