

NATURE FILM ACADEMY'S ORGANISATION PROFILE

Building India's ecosystem for wildlife storytelling and film education

Nalla's Ark Nature Film Academy Pvt. Ltd. is India's first startup dedicated to training and empowering wildlife storytellers through a blend of immersive learning, real-world production, and digital learning and distribution tools. Founded by Subbiah Nallamuthu, a 5-time National Award-winning wildlife filmmaker and recipient of the V. Shantaram Lifetime Achievement Award, the Academy transforms two decades of field and mentorship experience into a scalable learning and content ecosystem.

Based in Ranthambhore, Rajasthan, the Academy offers immersive bootcamps and field-based programs in wildlife filmmaking, life-sciences documentation, and creative storytelling. Students learn directly in real forest environments through a 4-step process - film study, pre-production, field production, and post-production; culminating in employable skills and monetisable content.

The Academy's physical base, My Dear Tiger™ Stay, houses classrooms, edit suites, a library, and India's largest private wildlife film archive (400 + hours). Its long-term vision is to evolve into a training-plus-streaming ecosystem, building one of India's first wildlife-focused OTT platforms - iWildE.

Aligned with UN SDGs 4, 8, 13 & 15, Nalla's Ark Nature Film Academy promotes quality education, green skills, and sustainable livelihoods. It collaborates with schools, universities, and CSR partners to make creative learning accessible, inclusive, and future-ready.

Through its “Learn → Create → Earn” model, the Academy bridges the gap between education and employment, nurturing a new generation of creators who will redefine how the world sees India's wilderness.

(Website launching soon: www.naturefilmacademy.com)